NEW YORK MONEY COMING TO STATE

New York Capitalist Visits Phoenix and States That Northern Camps to Get Influx of Cash

Outman and Chloride will be the gateway leading New York capitalists to Phoenix, according to Herman Warrendorf, millionaire New Yorker who is passing a short time here.

New York money he alleges is behind the majority of the property in the Outman district and the word "Outman" is coming on Wall Street today. Mr. Warrendorf contends that the investment of capital will bring many easterners to the mining districts and that they will naturally drift to this city. "I see no reason why Phoenix should not have a winter colony rivaling that of Pasadena. When everything is taken into consideration this city has the advantage in climate and in points of interest in the immediate vicinity. I regret exceedingly that I have not thought of coming here before and will make it a point of leaving at least a few weeks here every season. It is an ideal country and while I found many Phoenixians complaining of the hot weather I find it delightful." Mr. Warrendorf has circled the globe many times but he declares that in all his travels he has met nothing to compare to the grandeur of the Grand Canyon. He hopes to go to Roosevelt before his return to New York.

Garcia's aim is seeking a conference he says, is to prevent any accidental conflicts between the two forces when the constitutionalists move westward from their present lines towards those occupied by the punitive expedition. The general will be accompanied only by his staff and an escort of about sixty men.

MILLER RUNNING FOR STATE OFFICE

Former member of State Tax Commission Making Race for State Tax Commissioner

P. J. Miller of this city, who has lately returned from Cochise County, where he has been employed by the state land commission in selecting

The Hon. Philip J. Miller

State lands for patent, has reiterated his announcement of some months ago, that he will be a candidate for corporation commissioner at the primaries this fall.

Mr. Miller was a member of the first state tax commission, coming to that office from Yuma, where he had held the office of secretary of the water users association. Prior to that he was a member of the city council, and clerk of the board of supervisors. He first came to Arizona in 1883, and settled in Prescott, working in the old Dorr's silver mine in Yavapai county. After this mine closed down, he was employed by the government as quartermaster at Fort Whipple, materially aiding in keeping Crook's forces in the field during their arduous campaign against the Apaches. Later he returned to the east, where he took up railroad work.

The call of Arizona was too strong for him though, and he made his way back to Yuma, where he took up a homestead. He continued to reside on his ranch, until he came to Phoenix several years ago as a member of the state tax commission. At the last election he was defeated for reelection by Tom Campbell, but his services being valued by the state, he was appointed almost immediately by State Land Commissioner Moore to go into Cochise county and select state lands. He has been in that section of the state ever since.

Mr. Miller is running on a platform of free and independent democracy, of the Jefferson type.

VIVIAN YOUNG IN PLEASING RECITAL

Charming Phoenix Girl Delights Audience at Arizona School of Music, Graduation Exercises

Miss Vivian Florine Young, graduate of the expression department of the Arizona School of Music, charmed a large audience last evening at her graduation recital held at the school on North Central avenue.

Miss Young, who is a young lady of winsome manner, and a pleasing personality proved herself one of the most delightful entertainers that has ever appeared on the stage of the School of Music.

Her first number, "The Little Gentleman" by Booth Tarkington was delightfully rendered, and the humor of the play was well brought out. She then took her audience by storm. Perhaps her best liked number was "Mollie Make Believe" by Eleanor Abbott. She brought out her character in true style and with a clearness which kept each distinct at all times.

Unfortunately Edith Liebenow who was to have played several selections during the evening was ill, and unable to be present. In her place Mollie May Lindsey played the Hungarian Storm March by List with a great deal of feeling.

Following is the program rendered by Miss Young:

Reciting—"The Little Gentleman" Booth Tarkington
Reading—"Humoresque" Henry Van Dyke
Piano—"Hungarian Storm March" Liszt
Reading—"Mollie Make Believe" Eleanor H. Abbott

Miss Pascoe will accompany her family to Boston the first of August and may possibly remain with her throughout her winter. Her many friends feel anticipated Miss Pascoe's return to Phoenix in the autumn and word that her social debut has been postponed another year will be greatly regretted by the younger set. DRILLING TO START ON INSPIRATION NEEDLES

People from Globe and the Miami district report that great interest is taken there in the offering of subscriptions for stock in the newly organized Inspiration-Needles Copper company, in which many Phoenixians are interested. This property comprises 325 acres adjoining the Southwestern Miami and lies 1200 feet from the Inspiration to Live Oak Canyon. It is underlain by silver schist and is regarded by experts as one of the most valuable copper properties in the state.

Drilling will be begun at once under the superintendence of H. P. Males, one of the best known mining men in the country. Harry Lefkowitz, who has brought the property before the public, having acquired it from Dan Williamson who has owned the ground for twenty years is enthusiastic over the fact that the stock has practically all been disposed of in the district in which it lies. Mr. Lefkowitz has participated in nearly all the great mining rushes in recent years, from Klondike to South Africa. He was one of the earliest ventures at Rawhide and he was especially successful at Goldfield. He believes though that the Inspiration-Needles is the greatest proposition with which he has ever been identified and he believes that he will be able to turn over handsome returns to the stockholders of that company among whom are several prominent residents of this city.
